

University Housing

at the USC Village

Opening in the Fall of 2017, the USC Village will be an all-inclusive living environment for over 2,500 undergraduates, combining student housing with retail, dining, recreational and educational facilities.

Students will live in several unique residential colleges, where they will reside alongside faculty members and be a part of a distinct community. It's a setting that inspires and enables the convergence of living and learning, designed to enhance and enrich the residential experience for USC students.

Merging USC's Italian Renaissance style brick and stone Collegiate Gothic architecture, the Village will be an integral part of the University, combining a traditional look with state of the art accommodations.

Village Life

The residential buildings in the Village are multi-story, with students living on the upper floors and restaurants, shops and common-use areas occupying the first floors. Students will have access to over 20 study lounges and each building will have a beautiful outdoor courtyard on the second floor for the exclusive use of its residents. All residential buildings will have secured single entry way, with card key access to the lobby and a 24 hour biometric security entrance to the residential floors above.

Parking for residents will be available at the new 1300 car parking structure adjacent to the Shrine Auditorium. Along with a stunning residential dining hall, the complex will have a large fitness center and green space for outdoor activities and relaxation.

Housing for Returning Undergraduates

The Village's four buildings for upperclassmen will have variety of different apartments types available.

Students living in USC Housing for 2016-17, beginning with current freshmen, will have priority to live in the Village through the Housing Renewal program beginning in January 2017. Continuing non-residents and transfers may also apply beginning in February 2017.
